SIGRID ONEGIN

On-yeh'-gin

"Sapphische Ode" is marvelously interpreted by Sigrid Onegin with a wealth of beauty and expression that enhances the loveliness of this inspiring selection by Brahms. Sung with a calm dignity covering a passionate undercurrent expressive of the lyric poems of the Greek poetess of long ago, it is a song that will please you always. "Auf Dem Kirchhofe" contains a quality of feeling, an understanding never to be forgotten. Wandering with Onegin through the churchyard, you are impressed by the vastness of life, the smallness of the individual and the mystery of that unavoidable passing beyond into the shadows, leaving at the end as a memory in the sands of time, a head stone. Onegin has gained a place among artists that has never been surpassed and Brunswick presents her art on this record in all the glory and brilliance for which she is famed.

"Una furtiva lagrima" is the last plea of a lover inspired by the sight of a tear shed by his beloved one on the day of her marriage to another. Mario Chamlee sings this well-known opera aria, breathing into it all the feeling of the lover the hope that he may yet win, combined with the fear that he has lost forever. "Salut, demeure" is thrilling in the brilliance of Chamlee's voice, masterfully sung, with an expression that few artists have equalled. The love of Faust for his beautiful Marguerite has become an all consuming passion extending, lover-like, even to the dwelling of his loved one. Standing in Marguerite's garden, Faust sings this exquisitely tender melody. Rising to the heights of artistic fervor, Chamlee enters into the love-dream spirit of the song and adds to it a warmth that you have missed in other interpretations. Noteworthy is his top "C" at the end, a fitting climax to this remarkable Brunswick recording.

Pianoforte Solo Leopold Godowsky

Capriccio (F Minor) (Dohnanyi) Pianoforte Solo

Leopold Godowsky

"À La Bien Aimée" is played by Godowsky with an infusion of sentiment and charm that seems to breathe life into the notes. Crystal clear, each tone a thing apart yet all blending into a wonderful harmony, is this beautiful selection. "Capriccio," by Dohnanyi, is played by Godowsky with a delicacy of touch as scintillating as the sun's rays; with an assurance as firm as the earth itself, and an inspiration as bright and awesome as a flash of lightning, caught and reproduced at will. Brunswick piano records are famous as the only true reproductions of this difficult instrument.

35004 Oh Sleep! Why Dost Thou Leave Me? from "Semele"

(Handel) Soprano Marie Tiffany

Largo from "Xerxes" (Handel) Violin obbligato

by Fredric Fradkin Soprano Marie Tiffany

Calm, majestic and plaintive is the voice of Marie Tiffany in "Oh, Sleep! Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" You feel all the sadness of a plea for illusive sleep driven away by cares that cannot be forgotten—a warmth of feeling that portrays in the tone of a voice, the desire to banish all thought and care, for rest—in vain. "Largo" is wonderfully sung by Tiffany, with a unity of technique and that warm quality of life that carries you with her into that land where only voices live and art is the ruler of the universe. Dignity and graceful expression are the attribute of this selection, and it is sung by Marie Tiffany with all the fervor of which this star of the Metropolitan Opera Company is so capable.

Ballet Égyptien—Part IV (Luigini)

Erno Rapeé, Conductor Capitol Grand Orchestra

"Ballet Égyptien," with its permeating fragrance of incense and atmosphere of far off Egypt, brings to you something of the mystery of that age old land that enchants the world today. Cloudless skys, feminine loveliness, a still clam-ness, broken only by the shifting sands of the desert—all are reflected in this composition by the gifted Luigini. Orchestral triumphs played by the Capitol Grand Orchestra, under the direction of Erno Rapeé, with a precision and warmth of tone that are unequaled are these two parts of "Ballet Égyptien." Brunswick takes pride in presenting such a perfect recording at such an opportune time—the time when the eyes of the world are on Egypt.

2417 One Little Smile—Waltz

Carl Fenton's Orchestra

Mellow Moon—Waltz

Carl Fenton's Orchestra

"One Little Smile," a waltz of that dreamy kind, opens with a gradual introduction of the different instruments that is almost symphonic in effect. A Hawaiian guitar solo impresses with its soulfulness. Indeed a waltz that is entirely different and yet has all the appeal of your old favorites. "Mellow Moon" lifts you up among the clouds where you float with Carl Fenton and his Orchestra through a wonderfully pleasing waltz. A contagious and appealing refrain moves you over dancing waters, lifting mountains and rolling plains. Its even lilting rhythm is enhanced by a blending of orchestral instruments in a truly wonderful waltz.

Nola (Felix Arndt) Violin Solo

Fredric Fradkin
Fredric Fradkin

"Berceuse" is played by Fradkin so impressively that the sweet melody of this popular selection seems an enchantment intended for the entertainment of some fairy royalty. It is the kind you will delight in hearing again and again for the exquisite delicacy of feeling imparted by Fradkin's magic bow. "Nola," is played by Fradkin with such exaltation and imagination that a new sentiment seems to bloom in its delightfully popular melody. Lively and swiftly moving, it is Fradkin in a dream of witchery. Always capable of instilling new delights into the beauties of our lighter melodies, this splendid artist gives us this month one of his usual fine records.

5186 Message of the Violet from "Prince of Pilsen" (Luders)
 Soprano Irene Williams and Mixed Quartet
Toyland from "Babes in Toyland" (Victor Herbert)
 Soprano Irene Williams

"Message of the Violet" is one of the old songs that seems to gain new delights with age. A song to violets—that bring sweet memories. Irene Williams sings it with a warmth of feeling, inspired by the thought it contains. "Toyland" is another song that seems to gather mellowness with the passing years. Enchanting is the voice of Irene Williams in all its plaintiveness for the return of the joy and care-free happiness of childhood and Toyland. These two selections are recorded with that clarity of which only Brunswick is capable and it is this quality that makes possible the wonderful interpretive value of these songs.

2415 Narcissus (Ethelbert Nevin) Saxophone Sextet
The Wiedoeft Ensemble
Valse Vanité (Wiedoeft) Saxophone Solo Rudy Wiedoeft

"Narcissus" is marvelously played by The Wiedoeft Ensemble—a sextet of saxophones. This well-known selection gathers a new beauty from the wonderfully sweet music of these six saxophones, in their first recording. "Valse Vanité," by Rudy Wiedoeft, impresses you with the beauties of a saxophone solo. Sweetly expressive, a touch of joy, a touch of sadness—all the emotions in one song. The tone of Wiedoeft's saxophone adds a certain wistfulness to the thought of the song, one that you will love for its expression of life.

2413 Seven or Eleven Singing Comedienne Margaret Young
Wanita Singing Comedienne Margaret Young

In "Seven or Eleven" Margaret Young immortalizes "African golf" through the impersonation of the dark skinned and enterprising Mr. Johnson calling on fortune and his private pair of dice opportunely to roll the charmed seven or eleven. Sung with all the peppery ambition of a back-stable devotee of the galloping dominoes, it will prove a delightful diversion from the serious run of songs. "Wanita" is a comic song of a girl from Spain with an astonishing appetite—the kind that is "not hungry" but orders everything from soup to nuts. This Senorita has a hunger that rivals that of the famous "living skeleton" of the circus who was trying to take the place of the "fattest man in the world." Both of these selections provide an entertaining six minutes that contain more laughs than any vaudeville headliner.

2420 By the Shalimar—Fox Trot

Isham Jones' Orchestra

Foolin' Around—Fox Trot

Isham Jones' Orchestra

"By the Shalimar" is a musical gem among dance pieces, as played by the Isham Jones' Orchestra. The novel delights furnished by the saxophone and veiled trombone add greatly to a beautiful melody combined with an accentuated rhythm. In this, Jones presents a truly perfect dance selection. "Foolin' Around" is fanciful in design, alive with musical sparks of many colors and a maze of ornamentation that delights. You will be impressed by its novel effects and its fascinating rhythm—a wonderful selection of the kind that makes a dance unbelievably short.

2412 Sweet One—Fox Trot

That Red Head Gal—Fox Trot

Isham Jones' Orchestra

"Sweet One" opens with a bizarre introduction that leads to a lively refrain with a swinging, dancing rhythm. Jones' amber saxophone solo with violin obbligato on the G string lends a distinctive touch to this delightful melody, based on one of the favorite old classics. It is the kind of selection for which Brunswick is famous; a drifting, gliding, rhythmic dance delight. "That Red Head Gal" is an instrumental delight as played by the Isham Jones' Orchestra. The trombone and clarinet in their gloomy contemplation of "That Red Head Gal" seem almost human. Replete with surprises, it is the kind of piece that will make you forget everything except Isham Jones and this wonderful fox trot. This is a triumph among records, the reason is two-fold—Isham Jones and Brunswick recording methods.

2411 Kiss Me—Fox Trot Arnold Johnson and His Orchestra
Sweet Lovin' Mama—Fox Trot Johnson and His Orch.

"Kiss Me" has a flowery introduction, interspersed with celesta ripplings, which is followed by the trombone playing the yielding melody of the refrain. It is a song of the lasting type—the kind by which you connect and remember delightful events. Wonderful even if you do not dance, it delights throughout and gives you a good laugh at the end. "Sweet Lovin' Mama" is one of those "blues" songs that opens with a laughing clarinet and moves on to a verse full of action and orchestral chatter. A piano and two violins combine in a bouncing rhythm. The Arnold Johnson Orchestra introduces some instrumental effects here that will surprise you with their originality.

2418 Snakes' Hips—Fox Trot The Cotton Pickers
I Never Miss the Sunshine—Fox Trot The Cotton Pickers

"Snakes' Hips" is a series of slipping, sliding syncopations. Every movement of this selection is a startling surprise, changing in a twinkling from an easy gliding rhythm to quick, darting leaps. The Cotton Pickers seemed to have turned into musical contortionists with their fascinating, futuristic frills. "I Never Miss the Sunshine" is another cyclone of swirling, tumbling brasses. A marked rhythm moves you into the dance with a feeling of exhilaration that is a natural result of this haunting, laughing musical maze. It is the kind of song that is always new in its infinite variety of instrumental fineries. These Brunswick selections will always please you with their irresistible ultra-modern construction.

2419 Apple Sauce—Fox Trot Bennie Krueger's Orchestra
Wild Papa—Fox Trot Bennie Krueger's Orchestra

"Apple Sauce" is a babbling mixture of brasses, accompanied by the protesting grunts of the tuba and followed up by a pattering piano solo. It is one of those selections that imparts an irresistible desire to dance, the kind that grasps you in the embrace of its whirling, fascinating syncopation and moves you in a maze of intricate orchestrations. "Wild Papa" is written by Krueger himself, and naturally it is wonderfully suited to bringing out those queer and original musical feats for which his orchestra is famed. Bright piano fragments and a saxophone strain to the accompaniment of a rippling piano add zest to the already bewildering conglomeration of brasses and strings. The kind of dance music that moves you into, through, and out of the dance before you realize it.
